

REIMAGINING EXODUS

The Exodus Journey as Archetype of our Personal Journey

Celebrating the Hope of SpringTime, Passover & Easter

Led by Rabbi David Zaslow with a presentation from Guest Speaker, Matthew Fox

The biblical Exodus is the most influential freedom story ever told. It has served as an inspiration for Puritans, American revolutionaries, abolitionists, Mormons, the modern Civil Rights movement, and agents of change the world over. In Jewish tradition, the Exodus is also applied to every person's life journey with its struggles, liberations, and revelations. In this virtual 'retreat' discover how Exodus is the foundational story that links Judaism and Christianity together and look at ways that each of us can free ourselves from the "egypts" and "pharaohs" in our own lives— an ideal way to heal and celebrate hopeful possibilities during these challenging times.

RABBI DAVID ZASLOW has been the spiritual leader of Havurah Shir Hadash synagogue in Ashland, Oregon since 1996. His Siddur (prayerbook) is used in many synagogues throughout the country. He is the author of Reimagining Exodus and Jesus: First Century Rabbi. His bridge building work is acclaimed as sacred medicine for both Christianity and Judaism.

FATHER MATTHEW FOX is a spiritual theologian, Episcopal priest and internationally recognized advocate for Creation Spirituality which he describes as "Reawakening Mysticism" born in the wonderment of our earliest human ancestors, rooted in ancient Judeo-Christian tradition and supported by leading-edge science.
